

CALL FOR BOOK REVIEWS EDITOR

The American Review of Political Economy is expanding and will begin publishing book reviews and review essays. To this end, we are actively seeking a book reviews editor. The appointed editor will act as a conduit for books sent out for review, will coordinate with the Editor-in-Chief to ensure adherence to the stylistic guidelines of the journal, and will approve and edit book review essays for inclusion in the journal.

It is expected that the book reviews editor will have an academic position and will be supported in this endeavor by his or her home institution.

Any individual interested in this unpaid position should send his or her CV to the Managing Editor, Guido Preparata, at the University of Washington, Tacoma (ggprep@u.washington.edu) or to the Editor-in-Chief, Zagros Madjd-Sadjadi, at the University of the West Indies, Mona (zagros.madjsadjadi@uwimona.edu.jm).